Collect

God of heaven,
you send the gospel to the ends of the earth
and your messengers to every nation:
send your Holy Spirit to transform us
by the good news of everlasting life in Jesus Christ our Lord.

Reading: Nehemiah 8. 1-3, 5-6, 8-10

All the people gathered together into the square before the Water Gate. They told the scribe Ezra to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the LORD had given to Israel. Accordingly, the priest Ezra brought the law before the assembly, both men and women and all who could hear with understanding. This was on the first day of the seventh month. He read from it facing the square before the Water Gate from early morning until midday, in the presence of the men and the women and those who could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive to the book of the law.

And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood up. Then Ezra blessed the LORD, the great God, and all the people answered, "Amen, Amen," lifting up their hands. Then they bowed their heads and worshiped the LORD with their faces to the ground.

So they read from the book, from the law of God, with interpretation. They gave the sense, so that the people understood the reading.

And Nehemiah, who was the governor, and Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people, "This day is holy to the LORD your God; do not mourn or weep."

For all the people wept when they heard the words of the law. Then he said to them, "Go your way, eat the fat and drink sweet wine and send portions of them to those for whom nothing is prepared, for this day is holy to our LORD; and do not be grieved, for the joy of the LORD is your strength."

Gospel: Luke 4. 14-21

Then Jesus, filled with the power of the Spirit, returned to Galilee, and a report about him spread through all the surrounding country. He began to teach in their synagogues and was praised by everyone.

When he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, he went to the synagogue on the sabbath day, as was his custom. He stood up to read, and the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was given to him. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it was written:

"The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to bring good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim release to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."

And he rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant, and sat down. The eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on him. Then he began to say to them, "Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing."

Contemplative walking

Walking with the eyes of God

We all love to take endless snapshots of our daily lives with our phones and cameras.

In this walking exercise I invite you to use photography as part of your contemplative practice

Beginning as before: we are crossing the threshold into God space, we are going to walk seeing with the eyes of God

On your walk, discipline yourself to take just three images. Try to be led by your instinct but only take three images.

On returning home perhaps with a cuppa sit and view the images you have been blessed with. If you can, print them off spend a little time in quiet reflection gazing at them

What have you captured? What similarities are there in the images ... colours ... subject ... shape...form?

Can you feel any emotions rising within you ... do any words come to mind?

Pin the images where you can see them and let them be with you for a time, live with them, see what arises from living with them.

Is there a message within?

Don't forget to record in your journal any thoughts, feelings or revelation.

Holy Trinity will be creating a display, if you would like to inspire others with your photo's, poetry, prose, or drawings please leave them in the office or give them to your friends at Holy Trinity.

All readings are taken from NRSV
Readings for next week
